

Where to Obtain Appraisal Information

Ethical standards and IRS regulations prohibit museum staff from offering value appraisals of any kind, including authentication of art, artifacts and documents. We suggest that you seek the advice of a bonafide appraiser in your area who is a member of a recognized professional society of appraisers. Professional appraiser organizations include the International Society of Appraisers (ISA) and the Appraisers Association of America (AAA).

While the museum does not recommend specific appraisers, we are happy to provide information that may assist patrons in locating appraisal services. Depending on the item, one of these firms may be of assistance:
